

CLEAR YOUR WAY!

Ellen Faye
Organizing Coach and Certified Professional Organizer®

Marilee's Testimonial in Full

Making a career change from holistic nursing and energy healing to having a home-based internet marketing business was one of the hardest transitions of my life, not to mention the spatial and organizational challenges that were thrust upon me!

As soon as my dining room became my home office the dirty dishes in the kitchen and laundry started to scream at me (especially during my teleseminars!) and the piles of paperwork on my desk grew little legs and started scattering themselves all throughout the house.

Even though I loved what I was doing - I felt like I was in quicksand organizationally and fast losing my footing. I knew I was sinking because of two things: 1 – it started to reflect in my business (not being able to find paperwork and missing appointments) and 2 – my chakras were totally out of balance!

I needed help fast, so I did what I do best – I 'Goggled' for an organizational angel in South Jersey to help me! (I honestly don't remember what key words I put in Google).

The search took me right to Ellen Faye. I was so impressed with her website and credentials I immediately emailed her and in no time she responded and we had an appointment on the books (it's funny, I never thought of Google as having the ability to answer prayers until then!).

I knew the minute Ellen walked in my front door that this was going to be a successful venture. Her professional manner, her 'eye' for prioritizing, and her apparent business savvy struck me. After the first session we had a plan and I had great relief as I saw a way out of my quagmire.

That was two years ago. I've been working with Ellen steadily ever since. Silly me, I thought I would only need two or three sessions. I didn't realize what "Organizational Coaching" was really about. For me to really reach my goals I had to change on different levels of my being – not just clear my desk and organize files (although that happened rapidly) I needed to shift my thinking and learn to make optimal choices about my time, my workload, and many other things.

Ellen has been the perfect person to help me with this. She has taken me by the hand and the heart and guided me in a most empowering way (she didn't do things FOR me – she worked WITH me and taught me how I can do things differently - I like that!).

Because of working with Ellen, I wake up every morning feeling empowered because I'm organized – from the inside out! And I look forward to my 30 second commute to my office (wishing it was faster – ha ha!) because I'm anxious and motivated to get to work, help people, and make some money!!!

And, oh, did I mention that I've had a 250% increase in my business since I've been working with Ellen?

Marilee Tolen RN
www.HomeSpaLady.com

