

ellen faye organization

Mission: Organization: Episode MSO-208

The Goldenberg's are your typical American family of four except that they are hiding a big secret. Behind the clean exterior of their home, their closet spaces are becoming overrun. Like it or not the truth is tumbling out, and they are at their wit's end. Enter professional organizer Ellen Faye.

Master Bedroom - Beth's Closet

- Schulte Closet System

Before

After

After

Master Bedroom - Rick's Closet

- off the shelf product from Lowes - ClosetMaid Completions

Daughter's Bedroom Closet

- off the shelf products from local stores

Son's Bedroom Closet

- Schulte Closet System

Master Bathroom Closet

- Off the shelf products from Target
- This got cut from the show – here we put the towels and sheets under the sink since it was easy to fit them around the pipes, we used the shelves for toiletries.

What The Goldenberg's Say Now:

Dear Ellen,

You have made an incredible impact in the lives of the Goldenberg's. Your tools and skills as a professional organizer are fantastic. The best gift you gave our family are the skills to organize our lives. Yes, initially we relied on your expertise to help us physically sort through our "stuff." Once we learned how to sort, purge and store we were able to maintain our house in very little time! The most beautiful result of the process is to see our kids generalize these skills in their own space. When it is time to clean their rooms, they have a home for all of their toys, crafts, books and clothing - and they know where it all goes.

Organization is a skill that once learned is very empowering. The skills we all learned have transcended to our personal and work lives. We have so little free time - you have maximized the time we spend playing instead of searching, scrounging and hunting for the things we need!

Thanks so much,

Beth and Rick Goldenberg

